Gentlemen: — Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.

About five years ago my right car began to sing, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.

I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only as operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.

I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises seased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartly and beg to remain

Very truly yours.

A WOMAN'S GAME

By M. Quad.

Copyright, 1901, by C. B. Lewis.

When Captain Jabez Bebee of Marblehead launched his new brig, he named her the Jane Bebee, after his wife, who had sailed with him for many a voyage and was almost as good a sailor as he was. The first voyage of the brig was to a certain South American country ruled by a dictator, who carried things with a high hand for five or six years and got away with a lump of money just in time to avoid the revolution that his corrupt practices had evoked. The craft arrived after a fine run and was waiting to haul in to the wharf when an officir, same aboard and demanded a bonue o. f',000 for permission to land cargo. This was in addition to port charges and customs dues and was directly from Don Castro. It was blackmail, pure and simple, and Aunt Jane, as the captain's wife was generally called, looked at it in a proper light and said to her hus-

"Jabez Bebee, we won't pay it, and you tell him so straight from the shoulder. No, not a blessed penny. They are just trying to bluff us, and we won't submit. You just run up the American flag, set the hands to whis-one pretense or another and was for bidden to either haul into the wharf or maintain that the government represented by the eagle would stand no trifling with one of its representative citizens, especially one bailing from Marblehead and in command of a new brig which had logged off seven knots an hour with her yards checked in. He had his thunder duly prepared and his lightning handy by, but he struck a snag almost at once. Don Castro was a man who would not have hesitated to bluff the combined powers of the world if there had been $500 in sight for him. The wily old rascal also thoroughly understood statecraft and the number of years that would slike by while an offended government was making an official investigation into any of his acts, official or private. He sould be out of it long before the state spiration from outside sources." cepartment at Washington go. a move ou, and he wasn't worry ng as to what might happen to his successor.

"Pay me a thousand dollars and year to Captain Bebee. Then the captain of the Jane Bebee encouraged the bird to make things redhot, but when he had finished and was wiping the perspiration from his brow the dictator threw one leg over the arm of his chair and calmly replied:

"Yes, I've heard of some country of other called the United States, but it's a one horse affair and no go here. I'd agree for a small sum of ready money to wipe your country off the face of the map and not be over two weeks doing

Just opposite the bris's anchorage was an c'd dirt fort mounting four guns and garrisoned by a dozen soldiers. The guns were old and honeycombed, and had one been charged with on the library shelves, answered lea pound of powder it would have blown conically, "anywhere."

itself out of the fort; but this fact was unknown to us as strangers. Captain Bebee came aboard with a long face, and in reply to his wife's query he explained what had taken place ashore. The matter was talked over for an hour, and it was finally decided that the captain should go ashore again and try to buy Don Castro off for a smaller sum. If he pleaded poverty and in-dulged in no further bluffs, it was hoped that the dictator's heart might be softened into accepting about $600. It was about 4 o'clock in the afternoon when he was pulled ashore again, and two hours later word was sent to us by Don Castro that Captain Bebee was in jail on the very serious charge of trying to bribe the very highest official fifteen minutes later with a large platof the country. In other words, as we ter containing something hot. took it, he had got mad at being offered she promenaded up and down with her a row was coming and stood by for cago Tribune splinters. At the end of about ten minutes she walked up to the mate with her face as hard as stone and

"Look here, Samuel Davis Smithers, are you a man or a scarecrow?" "I'll stand by you in any plan you've got." replied the mate.

"And about the rest of 'em?" "They'll foller me to a man."

The crew was called aft, and Aunt Jane detailed her plan. As a result they lifted the anchor and sailed out of the harbor about an hour before sundown. There was a great to do in and about the old fort, and every minute they expected to be fired on, but to their great relief they got away without a shot being pitched aboard. The brig ran down the coast 14 miles and came to anchor in a bay resorted to by the dyewoods craft, and all that night every man of the crew was kept hard at work. While the carpenter cut gun ports in the bulwarks for four guns on a side men went ashore and brought off eight logs to represent cannon. These were stripped of their bark, painted black and rudely mounted, and, though the sailors were bunglers at the business, they gave the Jane Bebee a manof-war look to make you thrill. Viewed from a distance of half a mile, the Quaker guns looked ready to spout flame and smoke and round shot as big as beer kegs, and Aunt Jane rubbed her hands and smiled and said:

"If we don't bring that Don Castro down on his quaking knees, then I'll never buy another blue calico dress in the town of Boston. Now for the rest

One of the crew had a drum and another a fife and a third a concertina, and they were told off for the band. From the slop chest and fo'castle they got out enough garments to rig up a dozen dummles and make them fast to the bulwarks here and there, and they set sall on their return to the port. tling 'Yankee Doodle' and let this here | Straight up the harbor sailed the Jane don know that the American eagle is Bebee an hour after sunrise, but she

PUSHING FORWARD.

There is always a way to rise, my boy, Always a way to advance;

Always a way to advance;

Yet the road that leads to Mount Success

Does not pass by the way of Chance,

But goes through the stations of Work and Strive,

Through the valley of Persevere,

And the man that succeeds, while others fall,

Must be willing to pay most dear.

For there's always a way to fall, my hoy, For there's always a way to fall, my hop,
Always a way to slide,
And toe men you find at the foot of the hill
All sought for an easy ride.
To on and up, though the road be rough
And the storms come thick and fast;
There is room at the top for the man who tries,
And victory comes at last.
